EIGHTH ANNUAL SYMPOSIUM

Controversies in Clinical Practice

This course is designed to provide family physicians and other primary care physicians with an in-depth discussion of some of the more controversial areas that are frequently encountered in ambulatory office practice.

The subject areas have been chosen because of the high level of controversy related to either their diagnosis or therapy. The speakers have been chosen because of their known level of expertise and knowledge within the field, but also because they have taken a stand on one side or the other of the controversial issue presented.

In order to encourage discussion from the audience, each speaker presents his or her point of view, followed by a panel discussion with the opposing speakers.
