Twelfth Annual Symposium

Frontiers in Medicine

Medical science is advancing on all fronts. Progress in the understanding of basic science mechanisms quickly leads to clinical application.

This program focuses on several areas in which new knowledge has accumulated at an exponential rate, providing the clinician with new tools to alleviate human suffering. Genetics and immunology, once theoretical laboratory disciplines, now play an important role in patient care. The management of rheumatoid and neurological disorders has been significantly modified and improved by important discoveries in therapeutic pharmacology. The traditional surgical approach to cancer of the breast is under careful scrutiny and new modalities of treatment are being evaluated.

Frontiers in Medicine is designed to provide the primary physician with a current and working knowledge of these important and rapidly changing clinical topics.

Open to graduates of approved medical schools.

As an organization accredited for continuing medical education, the Department of Health Sciences, UCLA Extension, certifies that this continuing medical education activity meets the criteria for 6.5 credit hours of Category I of the Physician's Recognition Award of the American Medical Association and the California Medical Association Certificate. Approved for 6.5 continuing education contact hours by the California State Board of Registered Nursing. BRN No. 00371
